New Oliver No. 5

Sets Swiftest Pace Ever

Known in Typewriter Selling.

The wonderful new model, Oliver No. 5, has taken the market by storm.

Its reception by the public has exceeded in enthusiasm anything we had dared to anticipate.

Employers and stenographers alike have welcomed it as the one machine that answers the multiplied need of the hour.

The cry is for Speed! Speed! Speed!—and the Oliver responds.

The demand for Durability is filled by the sturdy, steel-clad Oliver.

To call for a writing machine that will do many things and do each of them equally well, the Oliver answers with its unexampled versatility.

Its visible writing saves the strain on eye and brain.

Its legibility lends beauty to its work. The letters that bear the Oliver imprint are the letters that seem to speak.

Oliver No. 5 fairly bristles with new and exclusive time-and-saving features. We have space to mention only a few of the more important ones:—

—Disappearing Indicator shows exact printing point.

—Balance Shifting Mechanism saves operative effort.

—Line Ruling Device is fine for tabulated work.

—Double Release doubles convenience.

—Non-Vibrating Base insures stability. Yet with all of these added improvements, we have still further simplified the Oliver by fitting brains with metal.

Oliver No. 5 is a dream come true—the dream of Thomas Oliver crystallized into this wonderful mechanism of shining steel that embodies very possible requirements of a perfect writing machine.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. I can now surely kill the pains and purge of this terrible disease.

In Germany—a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism, but now, at last, I uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those aged like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, in confidence, recommended.

Signals That Carry Far.

When an African chief of the Nigerian tribes is ready to begin harvesting and requires extra assistance, says Popular Mechanics, he sets some of his tribesmen drumming. They beat a huge kettle drum made of skin stretched on a calabash and a small side drum. The sound of the drumming carries a great distance, and laborers come in from all directions.

The Richest Man in the World.

The richest man in the world can not have his kidneys replaced nor live without them, so it is important not to neglect these organs. If Foley's Kidney Cure is taken at the first sign of danger, the symptoms will disappear and your health will be restored, as it strengthens and builds up these organs as nothing else will. Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have used Foley's Kidney Cure and take great pleasure in stating it cured me permanently of kidney disease, which certainly would have cost me my life."

Wasting Letters.

We have only a few letters in the alphabet, yet many persist in wasting them. Here comes M. Pfeuron, Mr. Lloyd, Mr. Brent, Mr. Llewellyn, Mr. Percy, Mr. Willcocks, Mr. Hammons, Mr. Mavonigale, Mr. Macera, Miss Carolynne Welles, Miss Muelanda, Georges Kheller, etc.—N. Y. Press.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ako, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes.

Revelations of Color.

Colors tell a tale. Feminine luxury shows a painful affection for musty blacks, for sickly fawns and greasy grays. Those of overflowing vitality, on the other hand, love bright colors—orange, scarlet and blue. People of amiable, but rather indefinite character, show a decided preference for pale shadowy shades—pale-blue, pale-pink, white or cream. Gentlewoman, London.

Stomach and Liver Trouble Cured.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures stomach and liver trouble as it aids digestion, and stimulates the liver and bowels without irritating these organs like pills and ordinary cathartics. It cures indigestion and sick headache and chronic constipation. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes.

Not for Hans.

Hans came in from his ranch to buy a horse. "I've got the very thing you want," said Ike Bergman; "it's a fine road horse, five years old, sound as a quail, $175 cash down, and he goes ten miles without stopping." Hans threw up his hands in protest. "Not for me," he said; "not for me. I wouldn't give you five cents for him. I live eight miles out, and I'd have to walk back two miles."

Don't Put Off

for tomorrow what you can do today. If you put off buying a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, when that pain comes you won't have any, buy a bottle today. A positive cure for Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Sprains, Contracted Muscles, etc. T. S. Graham, Prairie Grove, Ark., writes: "I wish to thank you for the good results I received from Snow Liniment. It positively cured me of Rheumatism after other had failed."

Work of Humorous Mason.

In Lichfield (Eng.) cathedral the central pillar of the chapter-house and the clustered shafts and vaulting ribs which spread from it are very fine specimens of early English work. One of the pillars contains the quaint design of a cat with a mouse in its mouth. It is supposed to have been executed in a humorous spirit by one of the masons, who, so far as the stone permitted, made it quite realistic.

Indigestion.

With its companions, heartburn, flatulence, torpidity of the liver, constipation, palpitation of the heart, poor blood headache and other nervous symptoms, sallow skin, foul tongue, offensive breath and a legion of other ailments, is at once the most widespread and destructive malady among the American people. The Herbine treatment will cure all these troubles. 50c bottle.

No Will and No Way.

Folks as have no mind to be o' use have always the luck to be out o' the road when there's anything to be done.—George Elliot.

I'd Rather Die, Doctor.

than to have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham, of Princeton, Ill., "but you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't, said all doctors. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astounds the world. 25c. at all leading druggists."

New Fishes in the Sea.

In a communication to the Royal Society of Queensland, Douglas Ogilby records the discovery of one new genus and seven new species of fish. Among these are slender dog shark, Howe's needle fish, long-beaked garfish, the somber leather jacket and others.

Words to Freeze the Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C. by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infalible for Coughs and Colds, its the safest, surest cure of desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c and $1 at all leading druggists. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

Pygmies of East Africa.

The thick forest along the banks of the Semliki, in eastern Africa, is densely inhabited by pygmies. They are cannibals, and when pressed for food exchange their children for those of other families. They refuse to eat members of their own families.

All nations are endeavoring to check the ravages of consumption, the "white plague" that claims so many victims each year. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds perfectly and you are in no danger of constipation. A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark., writes: "I know that Foley's Honey and Tar has cured constipation in the early stages." Do not risk your health by taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar is safe and certain in results. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and insist upon having it.

Objectionable.

"I wouldn't object to de man dat keeps talkin' all de time," said Uncle Eben, "if he didn't insin' on th'owin' in a question every ten minutes or so dat you's got to answer to show you's keepin' awake."—Washington Star.

Passed Examination Successfully.

James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies, and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. After the second bottle I showed improvement and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Remedy cures backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

A patent has been granted on a fan, the propeller-like blades of which are driven through gear wheels by a lever operated by one finger of the person holding it. The inventor claims it obviates the effort needed for using the ordinary fan.

Why

have a torpid liver when Herbine, the only liver regulator will help you? There is no reason why you should suffer from Dyspepsia, Constipation, Chills and Fever or any liver complaints, when Herbine will cure you. F. C. Waite, Westville, Fla., writes: "I was sick for a month with chills and fever, and after taking two bottles of Herbine am well and healthy."

Conservation.

The resources of the earth are the basis of our national wealth. By means of them alone, in material things, comes leadership among the nations. The conservation movement now fully under way embraces the forest movement as one of its sources and great divisions. Thus the cause of forest conservation throughout the country has won a powerful ally and a more effective support for the work that lies just before us.—Gifford Pinchot in New England Magazine.

Good Judgement

Swept Over Niagara.

This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warnings—growing ripples and faster current. Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need attention if you would escape fatal maladies—Dropy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see Backache fly and all your best feelings return. "After long suffering from weak kidneys and lame back, one $1.00 bottle wholly cured me," writes J. H. Blankenship, of Belk, Tenn. Only 50c. at all leading druggists.

The Secret of the Oak

Apart from a group of men and boys the leaders of the village, who were watching the woodmen work their havoc in the small patch of woods, stood John Matthews. To all save one or two he was a stranger, yet less than half a score of years before he had been known by almost every one in this little village.

But during the years of his absence most of the older folks had gone to their last home, the companions of his youth had married and moved to larger cities, while the children had grown to manhood and womanhood and to the present inhabitants John Matthews, owner of the big house on the hill, was somewhat of a myth.

He had returned from Africa the day before, returned upon the urgent request of his solicitors, who needed his assistance in settling the estate. He had come from the city on an early morning train, anxious to close up his affairs at once and get away from the village as soon as possible, for he had no desire to remain there.

He had expected to find strange faces and many changes, but was hardly prepared for the scene before him, the destruction of this woodland—the Black Forest of his boyhood days, in which he had slain imaginary giants and dragons, and where in his gentler moods he had hunted for fairies with Mary, his little playmate, his later sweetheart, and the cause of his desertion of home and country.

As he stood looking on, the choppers paused to select another tree, and a cry almost escaped him when he saw that their next victim was to be a great oak. It seemed to the man that an old friend was about to be sacrificed.

Under this great oak tree, centuries old, perhaps, he had spent the happiest hours of his life. There was a hollow in it that they had discovered one day. Mary had trained wild vines to grow over it, and they had called it the treasure keep of their castle. Then when they had gone away to school and college, it had been their post office.

Returning for the holidays, if Mary was absent he was sure to find a letter waiting for him in the hollow, and he would leave one for her when he went away. At last, when school days were over, and they were home once more, the oak had been their "trysting place, until the summer that his rival had come to the village.

A strong will, new scenes and friends, had helped him to forget, but now the memories came rushing back. Once more he could see Mary as she paused at the entrance of the woods when he had pleaded with her to give her answer to the question he had asked so many times that summer.

"You will find your answer in the oak at sunset," she had said.

He had come back at sunset only to find the hollow empty, and then he knew her answer, knew that the other man had won, and that she had left their old friend, the oak, tell him what her lips could not. That had been the end, for he left the village that night, and now after ten years one would scarcely recognize the boy in this stern, gray-haired man.

The blow of an ax brought John back to the present. As he was about to turn from the scene of destruction, he saw something small and white balance a moment on the edge of the hollow and fall to the ground. The woodmen picked it up, consulted a moment, and then one of them came toward him.

"The boss thinks this belongs to you," he said, handing John a small envelope, stained and yellow.

John nodded to the foreman, one of the few that had recognized him, and with quick-beating heart, hurried away from the curious throng. Arriving at the house he went quickly to the study that the care-takers had made ready for him. Hastily he tore open the little yellow envelope. The note it contained was dated ten years before. "Don't you know the answer is yes, Jack?" was all it said.

Then the truth came upon him like a flash. A wind had carried the note upwards as she tossed it into the hollow which she was not quite tall enough to reach, and it had lodged in a crevice above instead of dropping to the bottom.

The woodman's ax had jarred it from its resting place of years. In his haste that day long ago he had overlooked it and had misunderstood. It had been he that she cared for after all and not the other man. But what must she have thought of his sudden departure, what had she thought during those years of silence? He would find her.

There was a gleam of the fire of youth in his eye and the sternness had vanished from his face as he hastily glanced over some mail which his lawyers had forwarded.

"That can wait," he said, but one postmark seemed to catch his attention; he could not understand why, but it seemed vaguely familiar, and he opened the envelope.

Slowly the brightness died from his eyes, the hard lines deepened once more about his mouth, and the sternness settled again upon his features. He sank into a nearby chair and the paper fluttered to the floor.

"You gave up your secret too late old oak," he murmured as he covered his eyes with his hand. For the half folded sheet which gleamed so white against the crimson carpet was the announcement of Mary's marriage to his old-time rival.

Wisdom.

Wisdom does not show itself so much in precept as in life—in a firmness of mind and mastery of appetite. It teaches us to do, as well as to talk; and to make our actions and words all of a color.—Seneca.
